

Choose a project from the icons below. The purpose of these projects are to demonstrate that you understand how classification of living organisms is divided into Domains.

Children's Book

Video

Comic

Blog Article

Game

Student Choice

Classification Choice Project

Name _____

Choose a project from the icons below. The purpose of these projects are to demonstrate that you understand how classification of living organisms is divided into Domains.

Children's Book – Write and illustrate a children's book which explains classification and shows that you understand how classification of living organisms is divided into Domains.

Video – Create a video for your younger sibling that explains classification and shows that you understand how classification of living organisms is divided into Domains.

Comic/Cartoon - Create a comic book or cartoon that demonstrates your understanding of how classification of living organisms is divided into Domains.

Blog Article – Create a blog article that demonstrate that you understand how classification of living organisms is divided into Domains.

Game – Create a game that helps other students review their understanding of how classification of living organisms is divided into Domains.

Student Choice – Present your idea to the teacher for approval. Must include how classification of living organisms is divided into Domains.